This Book Belongs To:
My Name: ____________________________
My Address: ___________________________
My Phone No.: _________________________

TABLE OF CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Introduction- My Government</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part I- American Democracy</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part II- Division of Power in a Democracy</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local Government</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>State Government</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Federal Government</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part III- Political Parties in a Democracy</td>
<td>21</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part IV- The Voter in a Democracy</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Things to Do</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Test Yourself Activities</td>
<td>27</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sources of Information</td>
<td>31</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Project Summary</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS
This material was prepared by the Southern Regional 4-H Citizenship Literature Committee through a grant from the Coca-Cola Company.

Committee: Norma Roberts, Louisiana; Ruth Milton, Florida; Maurice Spencer, Georgia; Robert Soileau, Louisiana; and Ben Powell, Tennessee

The text for this project was developed by Norma O. Roberts, 4-H Specialist, Louisiana State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Originally printed and distributed by National 4-H Council
Introduction

Good citizenship is understanding your government. It is getting involved to see that your government represents you and other citizens. Democratic governments are established to be operated by the people and for the people. Citizens’ involvement in government is the only way to keep government responsive to the people.

How much do you know about your government? Are you involved in seeing that your government operates for you and other citizens? If you have trouble answering these questions, the “My Government” project is for you. In this project, you will:

- Share the knowledge gained through this project with others, and
- Function as an involved and informed citizen to see that government operates for the people.

Your experiences in learning more about government and in participating more fully in government will be fun, exciting, and challenging!

Planning “My Government” Project

This project may be taken as an individual project or as a group project. It can be continued for more than one year, depending on how much you want to learn. Begin the project by reviewing the entire project book.

☑ Go back and select [☑] the activities you would like to carry out.

☑ Select and complete at least one activity in each of the eight lists of “Things to Do”. Your involvement does not have to be limited to the activities discussed in this project book. Your imagination and interests are the only boundaries.

☑ Write down your project goals. Your goals should reflect what you plan to do and what you want to learn from this project.

☑ Make a plan of action for reaching your goals.

☑ Keep a record of what you do, what you learn, and how you share this knowledge with others. A 4-H record form is included in the back of this project book.

The “My Government” project will help you learn about government at the local, state, and national level. It will help you understand the importance of citizen involvement in the government. It will also help you find ways to get involved in government. Specifically, this project is designed to help you:

- Understand how local, state, and national governments are organized and operated.
- Become aware of career possibilities related to government.
- Plan and carry out projects that will increase your knowledge of and involvement in government.
- Keep a written record of activities undertaken and what you learned from each activity.

Summary of Steps to Follow in Completing This Project:

1) Review the entire project book.
2) Select activities which you plan to carry out.
3) Set your project goals. Record these goals.
4) Make a plan of action.
5) Carry out the plan.
6) Keep a record of what you do, what you learn, and how you share your knowledge with others.
American Democracy

Democratic government is founded on some basic beliefs about people and governments:

- People are rational beings, capable of self-government.
- Each person is unique and has worth.
- Constitutional government established a “government of laws and not of men”, meaning that the law is above the power of a select few to do whatever they want.
- All human beings should be judged equally and given equal opportunity.
- There should be free popular elections.
- A choice should be provided through opposing political parties.
- There should be government by discussion and debate where opposing views can be presented.
- The majority should rule, with minority rights protected.
- Political power should be separated among main branches of government so that government cannot become a tyranny (government by one ruler).

In order to function as a responsible citizen in a democratic society, you must understand the basic principles of democracy. The United States has a democratic form of government. This means government by the people. In a democratic government the supreme power is vested in the people. They exercise their power directly or indirectly through a system of representation, which includes a system of free elections.

Democratic government requires citizen participation. Citizens have support to give or withhold. Each citizen has a responsibility to stay informed on public issues, to express an opinion on these issues, and to make sure that government stays sensitive to the desires of the people. In the United States, only a small group fulfill this responsibility. To most people, voting is the extent of their participating. After election time they wait until the next election to become active again. Many citizens never become active even to register or vote.

Don’t be a “let the other guy do it” citizen. Get involved! Make sure your democratic government represents you and other citizens.

“You don’t really have to save the world. Just start saving the hometown. It will add up.”

- Hubert Humphrey
THINGS to DO: Select one of these activities to practice good citizenship.

Activity 1: Rid yourself of citizen apathy.

Read the newspaper and stay informed on public issues. Express your concerns and opinions to your elected officials. Learn about government organizations and operations so you can affect it in a positive way.

What sorts of issues did you learn about?

What stance did you take on some of the more popular issues you read about?

Did you get a response from your elected official?

What skills did you learn that will help you succeed in school? Your 4-H club?

Activity 2. Rid your community of citizen apathy.

Do a survey in your community to learn how people feel about citizen participation in government and how involved they are in their government. Use the results of this survey to plan an “active citizen” campaign in your community.

Your campaign might include:

a) Presenting programs to civic clubs, community organizations or school groups explaining the role of a citizen and the importance of citizen participation in a democratic society. You should use local examples to show the results of citizen activity or apathy.

b) Writing articles or "letters to the editor" to be printed in the local newspaper.

c) Arranging to be interviewed for broadcast over radio or television.

d) Conducting voter registration drives and "get out the vote" campaigns.

What were some of the more surprising statistics you found?

Would you say the majority of your community is active citizens or inactive citizens?

Does your community value their democratic government?

What are other situations when you would use the skills you’ve learned from this activity?

What would you do differently if you conducted this activity again?
Division of Power in a Democracy

Democracy has a strong bias against concentrated political power. In the United States government powers and functions are divided in two ways—by geography and by function. The division of power by geography is between local, state and federal governments. The division of power by function is usually between executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government. This division of power creates a system of checks and balances. It prevents any one person or group from becoming too powerful. This system of checks and balances helps insure that our government remains a democracy.

Local Government

There are several types of local governments – county, city, town, and township. These are the governments closest to the people and the ones that affect people most directly. Local governments have certain powers which are granted to them by the state government. Local government responsibilities often include such areas as:
1) Public safety — police, courts, fire, correctional institutions.
2) Public health — sewage, garbage, food, water, nursing, health care.
3) Public utilities — water, gas, electricity.
4) Public education — schools, adult education, libraries, museums.
5) Public welfare — playgrounds, parks, housing, care of the needy.
6) Public service — roads, highways, bridges, airports.
7) Planning and zoning — residential, commercial.
8) Financing — assessments, taxes, budget.

Things to DO: Learn about Local Governance - Select one or more to complete.

Your study of local government should focus on county government. County governments vary from state to state in their organizational structure and in their range of powers. In order to understand the organization and operation of your county’s government, conduct one or more of the following activities to learn about your county government. In order to carry out the activities you will need to visit with local county officials. You must remember they are busy people, so don't plan to take too much of their time. Explain that you are trying to learn about county government and would appreciate any material or information they could provide. A copy of your state’s constitution would also be helpful since this document spells out the power granted to local government.
Activity 1: Attend a meeting of your county governing body.

My Findings:

- What is the exact name of your county governing body?
- Is it provided for in the state constitution or by legislation?
- How many members does it have?
- What are the qualifications for office?
- How are members of the county governing body selected?
- What is the term of office?
- Are members paid by salary or by fees? What is the total amount they are paid each year?
- What are the principal duties of the governing body? Does it have power to levy taxes, make appropriations, authorize bonds? Any appointing powers? If so, whom does it appoint?
- How often does the governing body meet? Are meetings open to the public? Are minutes of the meetings available to the public?
- Are hearings held? On what kinds of matters?
- How is the chairman of the governing body chosen? What power or role does this person have in county government beyond presiding over meetings?

What were the most interest new facts you learned regarding your county’s governing body?

How can knowing more about your local governing body help your or your family, neighborhood or community?
Activity 2: Interview several local government officials.
Find out who is elected and who is appointed in your county’s governing body. Learn about your county’s finances.

My Findings:
Does your county have a single responsible county executive? If so, how is this person chosen? Term of office? Salary? Duties?

What authority does this person have? Any appointing powers?

If your county does not have a central executive, what officials perform executive functions?

To whom are they responsible for performance of these duties?

Who is responsible for carrying out the governing body’s decisions? For presenting budget proposals to it?

Which of your county officials are elected? What are their names and duties?

Who are the principal appointed officers? Who appoints them? What are their duties?

What is the term of office and salary of each county official? Who sets their salaries?

What services are provided by your county government?

How is your county government financed?

Which county jobs sound fun? Which division of power would you like to work for one day? Why?
Activity 3: Visit a local court during a trial by jury.
- What courts hold regular sessions in your county?
- What is the jurisdiction of each?
- What are the lengths of these sessions?
- What judicial positions are in your county?

What is the grand jury in your county? Answer some of these questions about your county’s grand jury process:
- How is the list drawn up?
- How many members does it have?
- How much are they paid? Who is exempt from jury service? How are exemptions granted?
- When is the grand jury summoned?
- How long does it serve?
- Are the accused sometimes held for long periods of time awaiting grand jury sessions?

What is the petit jury in your county? Answer some of these questions about your county’s petit jury process:
- How many members does it have?
- How much are they paid?
- Who is exempt from jury service?
- What type of cases are brought before the petit jury?

My Findings:
What new facts did you learn regarding your county’s courts and judicial system?

Reflect & Apply

Now that you know all about the divisions of power in a democracy, how can you devise a citizenship project that benefits the community and highlights the divisions of power?

How can you compile all this information into fun ways to teach your 4-H club about your local government?
State Government

Each of the fifty states within the United States has a state constitution and a state government. States have certain rights and powers, according to the United States Constitution. The United States Constitution is the law of the land, but the constitution of each state is the law within boundaries. The only powers a state is denied are those that conflict with the guarantees of the United States Constitution. The limitations placed on states by the Constitution are actually few. The separate states cannot make treaties with foreign countries, coin money, tax imports or exports, deny the due process of equal protection of the law to any individual or corporation, or impair the obligation of contracts.

State citizens elect their own officials who give leadership to their state’s government. The states enact and enforce civil and criminal law subject only to the Constitutional board’s guarantees of individual freedom. The states control the public education systems within their borders and provide services in health, welfare and highway construction. They license business and industry, charter corporations, and regulate utilities, insurance companies, and other businesses. States also have the power to tax individuals and corporations within the state.

Let’s Explore!

Who is the governor of your state?

What is his/her political party?

What other officials make up what executive branch of your state’s government and what are their positions?

In your state, how are the members of the executive branch, excluding the governor, chosen?
The LEGISLATIVE BRANCH usually consists of two houses (except in the state of Nebraska). These are usually referred to as the Senate and the House of Representatives. Senators are usually elected to four-year terms while representatives usually serve two-year terms.

In 1952, a Supreme Court decision (Baker vs. Carr) insisted on the concept of “one man, one vote.” This ruling resulted in the apportionment of state senators as well as representatives on the basis of population. Thus, the composition of state legislatures is much different from that of the national congress. In time there might be single-house state legislatures such as Nebraska has used since 1937.

The JUDICIAL BRANCH of the state, like that of the federal government, consists of a number of different court systems. No state has more than four kinds of courts, or fewer than two. At the top level is a court of last appeal, often but not always called the state “supreme court” as in the federal judiciary. The state supreme court supervises and receives cases of appeal from lower courts. In the state supreme court the number of justices ranges from three to nine.

Let's Explore!

What does the legislative branch in your state consist of?

The men and women who are elected to serve in your state legislature serve designated periods of time. What are the lengths of their terms?

What are the names of the men and/or women who represent you in the state legislature?

What are their political parties?

Below the supreme courts are the courts of appeal. Next are the trial courts, with such names as chancery court, circuit court, district court, and superior court.

Except for those in District of Columbia, we are all residents of a state and consider ourselves Georgians, New Yorkers, Floridians, Californians, etc. To be sure, all of us are Americans, but we are also citizens of a state. We are proud of our state citizenship, and as good state citizens we should be informed on issues that affect our state. We should actively work toward making our state a better place to live.

Let's Explore!

What is the court of last appeal called in your state?

How many justices sit on the court of last appeal in your state, and what are their names?

What is the function of the court of last appeal?

What system of courts is immediately below the court of last appeal in your state and what is its function?

What other courts make up your state’s judiciary system, and what is the function of each one?
Select two or more of the following activities to learn more about state government.

☐ Activity 1: Analyze Your State Constitution
In order to learn the facts about your state’s government, secure a copy of the constitution. Using the internet, read the constitution and make a notebook of comparisons between Florida and another state of your choice (preferably somewhere you’d like to live!). A library, state representative, or the secretary of state are possible resources for obtaining this document if you do not have personal internet access.

Which state’s constitution did you prefer?
Were there any laws that you were shocked by?
Why did you choose that particular state? Do you have family there?
Did you like or dislike anything about that state’s constitution compared to Florida’s?

What did you learn while comparing the two state constitutions?
In what other ways can you apply the skills you gained in this activity?

☐ Activity 2: Serve as a Legislative Page
A firsthand way to learn more about state government is to serve as a legislative page. Contact the person who represents you in the state legislature and inquire about serving as a page.

What did you learn as a legislative page? Would you like to work in government when you get older?

How can you apply the skills you learned as a page and to help better run your 4-H club? Your school?
Activity 3: Conduct a State Government Bowl.

This is an activity where teams compete against one another. The teams have the opportunity to answer questions related to state government. Points are awarded for correct answers, and the team with the most points wins. Create questions and answers for the State Government bowl. Make sure the questions you use have only one correct answer, and be sure the answer you have is the correct one. Also, create a list of references that your club members could study before participating in the Bowl. You will need rules for conducting the bowl. Once you have rules and the questions, you are ready to organize the bowl. Set the time and place. Secure the teams and any prizes that are to be awarded to the winners.

Did your 4-H club enjoy the State Government Bowl? Who won?
What did your club learn from this Bowl? Did they already have a solid background in government?
What questions did the teams answer wrong?

How can you take the interesting facts you learned (especially those the teams got wrong!) from the State Government Bowl and help educate your town about government?

Activity 4: Tour The State Capitol.

Plan a tour of the state capitol while the legislature is in session. Invite 4-H members and other interested young people to participate. For assistance in arranging such a tour, contact your representative in the state legislature. This person can give you information which will be helpful in planning the tour. Your representative might agree to make the necessary arrangements for the group to participate in some specific learning activities while at the capitol. Some activities that might be arranged are a tour of the legislature in action and committees at work or a meeting with the governor and other government officials.

What did you learn from the tour of the state capitol? Were you able to see the legislature in action? Any other committees? Did you meet the governor or any other government officials?

How can you apply the skills you learned in this activity to other areas of your life?
Select two or more of the following activities to learn more about state government.

Activity 5: Conduct a Mock State Legislative Session
Plan and conduct a mock state legislative session. Involve your 4-H club or 4-H members within the county who are interested in learning about the operation of state government.

- Did you incorporate both the Senate and the House of Representatives?
- What topics did your members discuss?
- What was your position?
- Were you part of the majority or minority?
- What laws did you draw up?

How can you take what you learned from the mock state legislature and apply it to other areas of government?

Activity 6: Invite your State Representative to a Club Meeting
Invite your state representative to speak to your 4-H club or county 4-H group. Work with your club members in advance to prepare questions for the representative.

- What is your state representative’s name?
- Were you successful in getting your state representative to come speak to your 4-H club?
- What subjects were discussed with your group?
- Did any topics pertain to youth exclusively?
- What did you learn from the presentation?

Would you like to be a state representative one day?

What can you do to start making a difference in your community as a youth? How can your state representative help you in your mission?
Activity 7: Keep up with current state issues.
Read a daily newspaper to stay informed on issues within your state. Many newspapers are published online if your family does not subscribe to a local paper. As you read the newspaper, make a list of current problems your state and its residents are facing.

What can you do to help solve a particular problem you have studied?

What can you do to help educate your 4-H club, community, and/or county about the issues affecting your state?

Carry out your plan of action. How effective was your plan?

Were you successful in making a difference in your 4-H club by educating others about this issue? In your community? In your county?

Activity 8: Interview State Employees.
Interview three or more state employees (not elected officials) in your local area. Find out what they do and how the state agency they work for serves the citizens. Check out the state agencies in Florida at MyFlorida.com.

Who did you interview?

What are their jobs?

How does the agency they work for serve the citizens of your state?

Can you utilize the agencies you learned about in any way?

How do they affect your life?
Federal Government

The United States Constitution is the supreme law of the land. The Constitution reserves certain powers for the federal government and gives other powers to state and local governments.

The Constitution establishes three branches of federal government. These branches operate within a system of “checks and balances”. This system keeps any one branch from becoming the dominant force of the federal government.

The EXECUTIVE BRANCH is headed by the President, and represents all the people of the United States. To be President, you must be a natural-born citizen at least 35 years of age. The presidency is an elected office of four years and is now limited to two terms. The President is commander-in-chief of the armed forces, conducts foreign relations, recognizes foreign governments, and makes treaties, subject to Senate ratification. The President may recommend legislation and veto bills passed by Congress. A two-thirds vote of both Houses can override a presidential veto.

He executes the laws and directs the administrative machinery. He has the power to pardon those who have been convicted of federal crimes. The President is, under the Constitution, more the leader of all the people than any other individual in government. Through his messages, televised press conferences and speeches, the President can spearhead public opinion, yet Congress can determine much of the success or failure of the Presidential program. Congress can accept the President’s recommendations, reject them, or change them.

The LEGISLATIVE BRANCH is made up of two houses: the Senate and the House of Representatives. A Senator represents the people of an entire state. There are 100 Senators, two from each state. They are elected for a term of six years by a rotating system of elections every two years so that “one-third may be chosen every second year”. Senators are elected directly by the people they represent. The Vice-President presides over the Senate, but has no vote unless a tie occurs.

The Senate is required to confirm most of the President’s appointments. The Senate also ratifies or rejects treaties negotiated by the President with foreign powers. While the House has the power of impeachment, it is the Senate that tries officials that have been impeached.

---

Let’s Explore!

Who is the President of the United States?

Who is the Vice-President of the United States?

What are the names and titles of the members of the President’s cabinet?
A member of the House represents the people of a district within a state. There are 435 Representatives from the fifty states; a Resident Commissioner from Puerto Rico; and three delegates, one each from the District of Columbia, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. The number of representatives from each state is based on population, however, each state is entitled to one representative regardless of population. Representatives are elected every two years.

The Speaker of the House presides over the House of Representatives. Although the election of the Speaker officially occurs on the floor, the Speaker is in fact elected by the members of the majority party meeting in caucus on the eve of a new Congress. Once elected, a Speaker is customarily re-elected so long as his party remains in control of the House and he retains his seat. Sam Rayburn’s service was the longest in history. He occupied the Speaker’s chair for over seventeen years.

Some of the nation’s most complex problems, whether in the form of messages from the President or initiated from within the House or the Senate, come under intense and informed investigation, analytical support and opposition from the Congress. These problems range from war or tax reform to reorganization of the post office department or legislation on the American fishing industry. It is in the House that all revenue money and appropriation measures originate—the latter by law and the former by custom.

The JUDICIAL BRANCH of the federal government is represented by the Supreme Court. “Equal Justice Under Law”—These words, written above the main entrance to the Supreme Court Building, express the ultimate responsibility of the highest tribunal in the nation for all cases and controversies arising under the Constitution or the laws of the United States.

The Court’s power of judicial review was not confirmed until 1803, when it was invoked by Chief Justice John Marshall in Marbury v. Madison. In this decision, the Chief Justice asserted that the Supreme Court’s responsibility to invalidate unconstitutional legislation was a necessary consequence of its sworn duty to uphold the Constitution.

The nine justices of the Supreme Court are appointed by the President, subject to the advice and consent of the Senate. These justices hand down decisions on cases and controversies which arise under the Constitution.
Select two or more of the following activities to learn more about federal government.

- Activity 1: Read the United States Constitution.

  Design a set of posters that explain the articles and amendments of the Constitution. Use pictures rather than a lot of words. The posters can be used to teach others about the Constitution and the federal government.

  What keywords or symbols did you include on your posters?
  Why are pictures better than a lot of words on posters?
  What facts were you able to teach others?
  For what other situations might it be helpful to make posters?
  Why is this a good method for teaching others?

- Activity 2: Chart How A Bill Becomes A Law

  Make a wall chart showing how a bill becomes a law. Do the chart as a diagram showing each step in the process. Use pictures rather than words. The wall chart can be used to help others understand how a bill becomes a law.

  How many steps must a bill pass through before it becomes a law?
  Why is a diagram a good way to reflect this process?
  What are other governmental processes that could easily be demonstrated by a flowchart/diagram?

- Activity 3: Investigate Congressional Committees

  Senators and Representatives in Congress serve on committees. Find out the committees on which your state’s senators and representatives serve. Select a committee of interest to you. Write the Congressman/Congresswoman on that committee and ask to be kept informed about the committee’s action. Many Congressmen and Congresswomen have a newsletter to constituents. Ask to be put on the newsletter mailing list.

  How does this committee affect your life? What can you do in your community to help the committee’s initiative?
  Why is a newsletter a good way for representatives to stay in touch with constituents? What other mailing lists could you get on to stay up to date with your government?
Activity 4: Know Your Presidents!

Make a list of all the United States Presidents. List them in order of service and record the years they served.

- How many Presidents have we had?
- Who served the longest? The shortest?
- Who is your favorite? Why?

What are some of the biggest issues our current President will have to face during the duration of this term?

Activity 5: A Presidential Election

Plan and conduct a mock presidential election. Follow the same procedures as used in a real election. Voters must register. Voters cast their votes on machines or ballots. Electors are selected. They cast their votes according to how the majority of the people they represent voted.

- What did you learn about our government as you went through the motions of a presidential election?
- Is democracy always fair?
- What are some other governmental processes that could be better understood by going through the motions to learn it yourself?

Activity 6: Visit Washington, D.C.

Plan a family vacation to Washington, D.C. While there, visit Capitol Hill, sit in on a legislative session, attend a congressional committee meeting and visit your representatives and senators.

- What did you learn about our nation’s capital?
- Were you able to meet your representatives and senators?
- What was the most interesting thing about Washington, D.C.?
- Where else could you visit to learn about government?

Or, learn how you can qualify for trips to Washington through state 4-H sponsored events like Citizenship Washington Focus or National 4-H Conference.
Activity 7: Identify Current Congressional Issues & Conduct Club Debate

Read the newspaper to find issues under consideration in Congress. Present a controversial issue to your 4-H group. Form a pro and con team. Have each team research their side of the issue. Conduct the debate at a 4-H meeting and then vote on this issue. Why did you pick this specific issue? Outside of the pro and con teams, how did your 4-H club feel about this issue?

What other situations would be clarified if there was a pro and con team explaining the differences?

Why is this a good aid to better understand both sides of an issue?

Activity 8: Design Your Own Activity

Develop your own citizenship activity related to the Constitution or federal government. Carry out your plan.

What are you aiming to learn with this citizenship project?

What will you be able to teach others?

How can the skills you learned here help you in other aspects of your life? In school? In your 4-H club?
Political Parties in a Democracy

Political parties are the instruments through which candidates are put forward, platforms written, conventions run and campaigns conducted.

The two major political parties in the United States are the Democratic Party and the Republican Party. From time-to-time third parties arise when certain groups feel neither major party represents them.

Political parties provide the framework for selecting candidates for political office at all levels. Almost all states use primaries to select candidates for state office. The Democratic and Republican primaries offer voters a choice of several candidates seeking nomination of their party. A candidate must win the primary in order to run for a state office.

National Democratic and Republican conventions are held each national election year. Delegates to the national conventions are determined by each state. This is usually done at a state convention. National conventions are held to submit presidential candidates and adopt party platforms. The President usually selects the Vice Presidential candidate.

"Political parties provide an outlet for concerned citizens who do not care to run for public office. They provide a social mechanism for permitting the largest part of the population to influence majority decisions by choosing the candidates for political office. They provide a continuing link between the relatively small number of men [or women] who implement government policy and the massive voting public. In short, through participation in national political parties the people of the nation govern themselves."

Senator Howard Baker, Republican - Tennessee

"No political candidate today can ignore the reservoir of talented young people that are available to assist in his bid for public office. In a close campaign their help can frequently make the difference between winning and losing."

Senator George McGovern, Democrat - South Dakota
Select two or more of the following activities to learn more about political parties.

- Activity 1: Study A Political Party
  Select a political party to study. Using the internet, research the U.S. political parties. You might also want to write to the parties for information. Go online or use your local library to find their addresses.

  What did you learn from the information on the different political parties?

  Which party do you feel represents you best? Why?

  What can you do to support this political party in your area?

- Activity 2: Join or start a political club in your area.
  Research and contact the appropriate national committee to obtain information about its teenage club.

  What political party did you research/contact?

  Describe the membership of your political club.

  Do your friends have the same political beliefs as you? Why might this be?

  How else can you use clubs or teenage clubs to support causes in your community?
Activity 3: Volunteer for a Political Campaign
Find a political candidate who seems to believe in the same things you do. Volunteer to help with the candidate's campaign.

Who did you select to support?
What platforms does this candidate have that you agree with?

What political party are they from?
What office are they running for?

How can you use the skills learned from this activity in other areas of your life?
Use this background to either run for class office yourself or support a friend.

Activity 4: Create Your Own Political Party
Create your own new and different political party that deals with issues the others do not. Come up with a party that is perfectly shaped around your ideals and political outlooks.

Who is interested in your new political party? If you were to campaign for this party, do you think others would support it? Why or why not?

How can you get the Republican and Democratic parties concerned with the issues your party deals with?
The Voter in a Democracy

The belief in free popular elections is one of the basic principles of a democratic government. Democratic government depends on citizen participation. One type of citizen participation is voting.

The vote is your opportunity to have a voice in the operation of your government, whether that government is in your school, your town, or in Washington, D.C. Every vote is important. A single vote once decided the election of a President of United States. Regardless of the difference in votes at any election, your vote is important. It enables you to express your opinion about your government - even if the majority disagrees with you.

To be eligible to vote in local, state, or national elections you must be 18 years old and registered. To find out how, when and where to register, call your courthouse or local election board and ask for the office handling voter registration. To register you will, under oath, need to identify yourself with name, address, and place of birth. You will give your age and establish your residence. Once you have registered, find out how long it lasts. Is it permanent until you move? Is it only for one year? Is it good until you have missed voting in a certain number of elections? Before you vote in any type of election (school, county, state, etc.) study the issues and the candidates. Find out all you can about each candidate and his past voting record. Then vote for the one you feel will do the best job.

Select one or more of the following activities to complete.

Activity 1: Run for an elected office.
Run for school, class, or club office. Develop your platform and conduct your campaign.

What sorts of issues pertain to your classmates?

What are your solutions for them?

If you were to run for local office, what sorts of platforms would you support? What are some local issues you would take care of?
Activity 2: Help Organize an Election at Your School

Work with your school officials and student government to set up a school election which follows standard local government voting procedures. Voters must register, candidates should campaign, voting machines or ballot boxes are needed, someone must tally votes and so on.

What did you learn about your local government as you went through the motions of an election?

What are some other governmental processes that could be better understood by going through the motions to learn it yourself?

Activity 3: Organize a Voter Registration Project for Seniors at Your School

Seek local voter registration cooperation in a voter registration project for high school seniors, with appropriate information provided on the registration process and “on the spot registration” of those eligible.

How many high school seniors did you help register to vote? Why are high school seniors a good crowd to market voting registration to?

What are some other ways you could volunteer your time to help unregistered voters register?

Activity 4: Volunteer at a Polling Place

Volunteer to assist at a polling place during an election or provide transportation to the polls for senior citizens.

How many people were able to vote because of the extra effort you put forth?

What are some other ways you could volunteer your time to help voters and the process next election?
Activity 5: Visit a Voting Headquarters on an Election Night
Visit the voting headquarters or the courthouse on election night to see the political process in action as the votes are tabulated.

What did you learn about voting procedures?

How do they make sure each vote is only counted once?

How can you use the methods for counting votes in your 4-H club? In school?

Activity 6: Invite a Local Election Official to Speak to Your 4-H Club
Secure a local election official to discuss the specifics of local elections, as well as voting procedures with your 4-H club or school group.

Who did you invite?

What new facts did you/your club members learn about voting procedures?

How can you take the knowledge gained here and teach others about local election specifics?
Test Yourself!

As you complete your citizenship project, these activities are for you to test yourself on your knowledge as a U.S. Citizen.

Activity 1: The U.S. Citizenship Quiz

Below are some questions typical of those asked on a citizenship exam given to immigrants. Can you answer them?

1. What is our national motto?
   - a) In God We Trust
   - b) E Pluribus Unum
   - c) Liberty & Justice for All

2. When was the Constitution adopted?
   - a) July 4, 1776
   - b) March 4, 1789
   - c) June 14, 1777

3. What is the Bill of Rights?
   - a) The first 10 amendments to the Constitution
   - b) A treaty with our allies
   - c) The Preamble to the Constitution

4. U.S. Senators have always been elected by the people.
   - a) true
   - b) false

5. How many Justices in the Supreme Court?
   - a) nine
   - b) seven
   - c) twelve

6. How many Senators are there in Congress?
   - a) 80
   - b) 100
   - c) 196

7. How many Senators are there from each state?
   - a) one
   - b) two
   - c) three

8. A bill passed by both houses of Congress may become a law without the signature of the President.
   - a) True
   - b) False

9. All revenue raising bills must originate with the:
   - a) President
   - b) U.S. Senate
   - c) House of Representatives
10. Name the war in which we won our independence from Great Britain.
   a) War of 1812
   b) Civil War
   c) Revolutionary War

11. How are amendments to the Constitution ratified?
   a) By popular vote of the people
   b) By State Convention or Legislatures
   c) By U.S. House and Senate

12. On what date do we celebrate our Nation's Birthday?
   a) June 14
   b) July 4
   c) November 11

13. The quote, "Four Score and Seven Years Ago" begins the:
   a) Declaration of Independence
   b) Preamble to the Constitution
   c) Lincoln's Gettysburg Address

14. By what margin must Congress vote to pass a bill over the President's veto?
   a) 2/3
   b) 3/5
   c) 3/4

15. Our American President has the power to make treaties with foreign powers without consulting Congress.
   a) True
   b) False

16. Article I of the Constitution prohibits a levy of tax on income. How then, is income tax legal?
   a) It isn't
   b) Constitution was amended
   c) Congress passed a law making it legal

Check your answers on page 30.
Activity 2: The U.S. Capitols

Match the state capitals with the 50 states outlined on the map below by placing the numbers beside each city on the map within the correct state.

1 - Atlanta 11 - Annapolis 21 - Augusta 31 - Baton Rouge 41 - Concord
2 - Sacramento 12 - Tallahassee 22 - St. Paul 32 - Santa Fe 42 - Helena
3 - Hartford 13 - Oklahoma City 23 - Jackson 33 - Albany 43 - Springfield
4 - Little Rock 14 - Harrisburg 24 - Providence 34 - Bismarck 44 - Topeka
5 - Lincoln 15 - Madison 25 - Salem 35 - Charleston 45 - Cheyenne
6 - Austin 16 - Olympia 26 - Indianapolis 36 - Phoenix 46 - Trenton
7 - Nashville 17 - Carson City 27 - Columbia 37 - Richmond 47 - Salt Lake City
8 - Montpelier 18 - Montgomery 28 - Des Moines 38 - Lansing 48 - Frankfort
9 - Raleigh 19 - Denver 29 - Boise 39 - Pierre 49 - Boston
10 - Honolulu 20 - Juneau 30 - Dover 40 - Columbus 50 - Jefferson City

[Map of the United States with state capitals marked]
Answers to Citizenship Quiz

1) a, In God We Trust
2) b, March 4, 1789
3) a, the first 10 amendments to the Constitution
4) b, false (elected by people only since 1913 due to Amendment17, Sec 1)
5) a, nine
6) b, 100
7) b, two
8) a, True
9) c, House of Representatives
10) c, Revolutionary War
11) b, By State Convention or Legislatures
12) b, July 4
13) c, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address
14) a, 2/3
15) b, False
16) b, Amendment XVI of the Constitution, adopted 1913

Score as follows:
14-16 correct -- Congratulations! Your education and patriotism are showing.
12-13 correct -- A good solid citizen!
9-11 correct -- Today's typical American. Try reading more news and less comics!
6-8 correct -- Under-average. You may lose some priceless freedoms.
0-5 correct -- Have you thought of moving to the Moon?

How did you do?
If you did not do as well as you should, what is something new you learned as a result of these activities?
How can this project help you with school or in future?
Additional Sources of Information

Major Political Party Headquarters

Democratic National Committee
430 South Capitol Street, S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003
www.democrats.org

Republican National Committee
310 First Street, S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003
www.rnc.org

Major Political Party Student Groups

Young Democrats of America
430 South Capitol Street, S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003
www.yda.org

Young Republicans/College Republicans
310 First Street, S.E.
Washington, D.C. 20003

Check the addresses of other political parties at your local library or on the internet.

Additional 4-H Citizenship Project Resources

Michigan 4-H web site:
- Citizenship: Government is US! Curriculum
- Civic Engagement: After School Activities for Citizenship and Leadership

National 4-H:
- Public Adventures
- Agents of Change: Service Learning

Additional 4-H Citizenship Events

4-H Legislature
The Florida 4-H Legislature is a five day learning laboratory in state government designed to give participants educational experiences such as: learning about the functions of state level government, becoming informed about the state system of government, serving as mock legislators, reporters or lobbyists, meeting in the committee rooms of the House of Representatives as well as the House Chambers, and touring the State Capitol, Supreme Court, Archives and/or other State Buildings.

Citizenship Washington Focus (CWF) Program
The Citizenship Washington Focus (CWF) Program is an exciting educational week for senior 4-H'ers in our nation's Capitol, exploring how their individual actions can make a difference in our world. Conducted in Washington, D.C., CWF uses our nation's capitol as a classroom in which to foster youth appreciation, understanding, and involvement in civic responsibility, government operations, and current issues.

National Standards for Civics and Government, Grades 9-12

What are Civic Life, Politics, and Government?
A. What is civic life? What is politics? What is government? Why are government and politics necessary? What purposes should government serve?
B. What are the essential characteristics of limited and unlimited government?
C. What are the nature and purposes of constitutions?
D. What are alternative ways of organizing constitutional governments?

What are the Foundations of the American Political System?
A. What is the American idea of constitutional government?
B. What are the distinctive characteristics of American society?
C. What is American political culture?
D. What values and principles are basic to American constitutional democracy?

How Does the Government Established by the Constitution Embody the Purposes, Values, and Principles of American Democracy?
A. How are power and responsibility distributed, shared, and limited in the government established by the United States Constitution?
B. How is the national government organized and what does it do?
C. How are state and local governments organized and what do they do?
D. What is the place of law in the American constitutional system?
E. How does the American political system provide for choice and opportunities for participation?

What is the Relationship of the United States to Other Nations and to World Affairs?
A. How is the world organized politically?
B. How do the domestic politics and constitutional principles of the United States affect its relations with the world?
C. How has the United States influenced other nations, and how have other nations influenced American politics and society?

What are the Roles of the Citizen in American Democracy?
A. What is citizenship?
B. What are the rights of citizens?
C. What are the responsibilities of citizens?
D. What civic dispositions or traits of private and public character are important to the preservation and improvement of American constitutional democracy?
E. How can citizens take part in civic life?

Source: Center for Civic Education
Unit 6: My Government Project Summary

Name ____________________________________________
Address __________________________________________
Age_______________ Grade in school _______________ Years in 4-H _______________
Years in Citizenship Project _______________________
Name of 4-H Group or Club ___________________________

My Government Project Goals:

____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________

American Democracy

What I did:

____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________

What I learned:

____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
____________________________________________________
Divisions of Power in a Democracy, Local Government

What I did:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

What I learned:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

State Government

What I did:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

What I learned:

________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
Federal Government

What I did:

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________

What I learned:

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________

Political Parties in a Democracy

What I did:

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________

What I learned:

_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
_________________________________________________________________
The Voter in a Democracy

What I did:

____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________

What I learned:

____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________

Additional government activities in which I have been involved:

____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
____________________________________________________________________________________
The 4-H Pledge is an outline for the 4-H Citizenship Project. Citizenship education through 4-H should provide three-fold learning - knowing, feeling, acting.

I Pledge

- My Head to clearer thinking
  - Understanding - using our heads for clearer thinking, getting information and understanding issues.

- My Heart to greater loyalty
  - Attitudes - using our hearts to appreciate our rights and feel our responsibilities.

- My Hands to larger service, and
  - My Health to better living for my Club, my Community, my Country, and my World.
  - Action - using our hands and healthy bodies and minds to put into practice what we understand and feel we should do.

Additional Citizenship Units

Good citizenship involves more than understanding and participating in government. Good citizenship is important in relationships with your family, friends, and neighbors. Good citizenship is important to your 4-H Club and other organizations you belong to. It means understanding and appreciating yourself and your heritage, and having the same respect for other people and their heritages.

The citizenship project is made up of a series of seven units. You have probably used some of these units in previous years and you may take the other units in the future.

The citizenship project consists of the following units:

- Unit 1 Me, My Family and My Friends
- Unit 2 My Neighborhood
- Unit 3 My Clubs and Groups
- Unit 4 My Community
- Unit 5 My Heritage
- Unit 6 My Government
- Unit 7 My World

This document is 4H CIM 15 (DLN 4H 020) one of a series of the 4-H Youth Development Program, Florida Cooperative Extension Service, Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, University of Florida. Please visit the Florida 4-H web site at: http://florida4h.org/projects/index.shtml

John Rutledge, Professor Emeritus, Joy C. Jordan, Associate Professor, Dale Pracht, Assistant Professor Department of Family, Youth and Community Sciences, in collaboration with the Life Skills Citizenship Project Action Team: Germaine Pointer, South RSA, Karen Henry, 4-HAgent I, Osceola County, Kay D. Brown, Agent IV, Escambia County, and Vickie B. Mullins, Agent IV, Santa Rosa County, University of Florida, IFAS Extension, Gainesville, 32611. Revised, December 2009.

Publication History

This material was originally prepared by Maurice Spencer, 4-H Youth Development Leader, University of Georgia, and the Southern Regional 4-H Citizenship Literature Committee: Norma Roberts, Louisiana (Chairman); Treva Sawatski, Arkansas; Ruth Milton, Florida; Maurice Spencer, Georgia; Robert Soileau, Louisiana; and Ben Powell, Tennessee, through a grant from the Coca-Cola Company. This document was published as one of a series of the 4-H Youth Development Program, Florida Cooperative Extension Service, Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, University of Florida. June 1985 by John Rutledge, 4-H Youth Development Specialist.

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE, UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, INSTITUTE OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES, Millie Ferrer-Chancy, Interim Director, in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture, publishes this information to further the purpose of the May 8 and June 30, 1914 Acts of Congress; and is authorized to provide research, educational information, and other services only to individuals and institutions that function without discrimination with respect to race, creed, color, religion, age, disability, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, national origin, political opinions, or affiliations. Single copies of extension publications (excluding 4-H and youth publications) are available free to Florida residents from county extension offices. Information about alternate formats is available from IFAS Information and Communication Services, University of Florida, PO Box 110810, Gainesville, FL 32611-0810. This information was published October 1979 as 4H CIM 15, Florida Cooperative Extension Service. Revised December, 2009.